OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY OF DIXON BY ACT OF CITY COUNCIL.

TELEGRAPH—SIXTY-SEVENTH YEAR

DIXON, ILLINOIS, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1917.

DAILY TELEGRAPH—THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.—2 67

Y. M. C. A. FUND MUST BE RAISED HERE NEXT WEEK

Dixon Men and Women Are Organized for the Campaign.

BIG DRIVE ON TUESDAY

Much Work in Neighboring Communities Being Aided by Dixonites.

The Illinois campaign for army Y. M. C. A. funds in which the goal is $3,000,000, will be successful, indications at this time show. Chicago has already secured in large pledges $550,000 of her $2,000,000. Mr. Kresge, owner of a chain of stores, has promised to give one-half of the gross receipts of his stores on next Tuesday. It is expected that this sum will reach at least $50,000.

District Number 2 displayed considerable activity along organization lines yesterday. The Dixon campaign committee met at noon as usual. The captains and workers of the ladies' campaign committee met at the city hall where J. Der Kinderin told them of the work and the plan of campaign. H. M. Babin was with the Franklin Grove committee, which is under the leadership of S. A. Durkes, for conference last night. Dr. McWethy met with the South Dixon committee at the home of W. J. Cortright. In the evening a number of Dixon men attended a mass meeting at Amboy which was addressed by Mr. Der Kinderin. After the meeting Amboy committee organized for the campaign, and will doubtless secure her quota of $2000.

Sunday promises to be a busy time with meetings scheduled in all parts of the county. For Dixon there is to be a large union mass meeting at the Methodist church, to be addressed by Dr. Kallenberg, who is at present director of all physical activities at Camp Grant. Before assuming this position, Dr. Kallenberg was for years dean of the physical department of the Y. M. C. A. college at Chicago. In the morning Dr. Kallenberg will speak at the mass meeting at Lee Center. In the evening there is to be a meeting at Gay Grove and a large mass meeting at Byron for that section.

Supt. H. H. Hagen of the north side schools, stated Friday that the high school boys and girls of North Dixon have pledged themselves to earn $2 each to be contributed to the Y. M. C. A. fund. The south side school expects to organize early next week. The students from all parts of the country are taking a large part in the campaign. At Northwestern University 2000 students are raising $15,000. At Mt. Morris college in Mt. Morris, 140 students have pledged themselves to get $1000 for this fund. In view of these facts it is evident that Lee and Ogle counties will certainly secure their quota of $35,555.

The committee in charge of the Dixon campaign starts with a banquet for all workers on Monday night. Tuesday has been set apart as one day during which all the workers are to give their entire time in an effort to raise the whole amount in a day. The ladies will make their house-to-house canvass beginning on Wednesday.

MASONS MEET TONIGHT.

There will be a special meeting of Friendship Lodge No. 7, A. F. and A. M., tonight at 7 o'clock for work in the Entered Apprentice degree.

COUNTY HOME COMMITTEE.

The county home committee of the board of supervisors met here today to discuss repairs to the heating plant at the infirmary at Eldena.

Dixon Men Inspected Sterling Unit of Volunteer Reserve Corps; Were Pleased

Sterling Gazette: The committee from Dixon sent to Sterling last night by the Dixon Business Men's association to inspect Unit Fourteen, Volunteer Reserve Corps, went back greatly pleased with what they saw and with the determination of forming a unit in Dixon. Their visit was to learn the details regarding the means of organization. They came to investigate and made a thorough one and expressed themselves as being favorably impressed. The committee was composed of George Dixon, George Downing, Harry Lennon, Messrs. Sullivan and Richards and Capt. Sam Cushing.

They reached Sterling over the North Western and went back on the 9 o'clock interurban. Captain Ward and his officers gave them every attention.

Captain Ward took them into the officers' headquarters, where they were met by several of the representative citizens of Sterling. The first work of the organization was

AUTO DAMAGED THIS MORNING

Casper Krug's auto was damaged slightly at 9:30 o'clock this morning when a Ford car, driven by Adam Fesey of east of the city, ran into it while standing in front of the Dixon Grocery. A rear fender, the tire carrier and the tail light were broken.

MRS. EARLL'S FUNERAL TOMORROW AFTERNOON

SERVICES FOR AGED GRAND DETOUR LADY AT GRANDY CHURCH.

The funeral of Mrs. Samuel Earll of Grand Detour, who passed away at her home Friday, will be held at the Christian church in Grand Detour at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with interment at the Grand Detour cemetery. Jane Ann Stevens was born at Punkhannock, Pa., December 12, 1824, and was married to Samuel W. Earll at that place January 17, 1844. In the spring of 1859 they came west, locating at Lane, now Rochelle, Ill. In the winter of 1867 they moved to Grand Detour, and until her death that community continued to be her home. She is survived by four children: W. B. Earll of Augusta, Kan.; Elizabeth Smith of Portland, Ore.; H. C. Earll of Grand Detour, and W. S. Earll of Dixon, and a number of grand and great grandchildren.

FOG RESPONSIBLE FOR ACCIDENTS

DENSE FOG CAUSES RAIL ACCIDENTS AND DELAYS TRAINS.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, Nov. 10.—Scores of persons were injured in railroad, street car and elevated collisions and other accidents, due to the fog here this morning. The injuries were mostly of a slight nature.

All trains were late, those from the more distant suburbs arriving from a half to an hour and a half late.

At 10 o'clock the fog was still so dense that office buildings were illuminated as if at night.

GEORGE FRUIN'S UNCLE IS DEAD

The following item concerning the death of an uncle of George J. Fruin of Dixon is taken from the Ogle County Republican of Oregon:

George J. Fruin was born at Toot Baulden, Eng., Aug. 6, 1861, the only son of John Fruin, who preceded him in death several years ago.

He has lived in Nachusa township since coming to this country in 1882 with the exception of the last two years, when he resided with a nephew, William J. Fruin, of Granite Falls, Minn.

His nearest relatives are four nephews: George J. Fruin of Dixon; Claude E. of Oregon; Wm. J., Granite Falls, Minn., and Percy L., of Oregon.

For many years Mr. Fruin was prominent in the affairs of Nachusa and served in many positions of trust until broken in health two years ago he went to reside with his nephew, as above stated. The remains were brought to Oregon and the funeral service conducted from the home of Claude Fruin in this city at 9:30 Tuesday by Rev. George A. Brown, after which burial was made by the side of his parents in the Daysville cemetery.

LICENSED TO WED.

Marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Dimick to Gregoire Narcisse Auger of Chicago and Miss Erie Adele Hammerstrom of Dixon, and Harry J. Buckley of May township and Miss Grace P. Anderson of East Grove.

BOY WITH ENGINEERS TELLS OF INCIDENTS SOMEWHERE ABROAD

Chicago Trooper Writes of Thrilling Battles in the Sky.

DIXON BOYS SEE THEM

A. Castagnio, a member of the medical department of the Thirtieth Engineers of the American expeditionary force, writes an interesting letter of his experiences in France. Five Dixon boys are with this regiment. The letter follows:

"Somewhere in France, Oct. 4.—My Dear J. T.: Just a line to let you know that I am still in the land of the living and working like the devil all the time. I suppose you have read my letters to Will and know something of my trip over and the life I'm leading. Tell Tom when you write him that this is a great deal different from service on the border. There all he had to do was to walk sentry post and when he was through guard mount he could go to sleep.

"But not here, Lord—no. Here we have one continual round of German visitors. During the day they shell us, and at night they raid us. You sleep when you get back to the States. I have not had my clothes off at night for over a month until last night, when I took off my shoes only.

"It rained like the deuce last night and we were safe from aerob, but they shelled us all night, but I slept through it, going to sleep with a

MEN'S BANQUET AT M. E. CHURCH

The Men's club of the M. E. church will give their Thanksgiving banquet Tuesday evening, Nov. 20.

They had the late Hon. W. C. Calhoun, the big American, address them at one of their meetings. They have had Dr. O'Neill, the big Irishman of Joliet address them. They have had Dr. Wedderspoon, the big Scotch man, to address them, and for this meeting they have the big Weichman, Dr. J. S. Ladd Thomas, D. D., pastor of the Austin church. Membership of over 1300. Dr. Thomas' lecture will be "The Man of the Hour." Mrs. Stark's section of the Ladies Aid will serve the banquet.

BIG BROTHERS HELP SOLDIERS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) Freeport, Ill., Nov. 10.—Stephenson county has an organization that is known as The Big Brothers, whose object is to perform various services for the national army men from this county at Camp Grant and to continue such activities in behalf of the selected men in whatever field they are ultimately may be assigned. The Big Brothers correspond with their proteges, send them money, food delicacies and articles of clothing. Many members of the society have supplied their soldiers with sweaters.

GREATEST STORY STARTS TONIGHT

Every reader of The Telegraph is urged to turn to page six of today's issue and read the first installment of the finest serial story it has been the paper's opportunity to publish for some time. In "The Ranch at Wolverine," a great tale of love and a struggle of two young people against most discouraging obstacles to final happiness is told in a wonderful way by B. M. Bower. The story will be published in liberal daily installments. Start it at once.

SAW PICTURES OF K. T. PARADE

Efforts are being made by the managers of local picture houses to secure the films of the great Knights Templar parade held in Dixon, Lowden park, October 6, for exhibition in the near future. The films were shown in Sterling last Saturday evening and are said to have been very fine. Part of the view was taken on North Galena avenue, the rest in Assembly Park.

DIXON PLAYING IN BELVIDERE

The Dixon Union High School football team left this morning for Belvidere, where they will play the Belvidere High School eleven this afternoon. Belvidere has a fine record and has run up some high scores against opponents. In a recent game Belvidere beat Rochelle 42 to 0, it is reported, so the Dixon boys have a tough job on their hands.

HAD OPERATION.

Mrs. Paul Harms of Palmyra underwent an operation at the Dixon hospital Monday and is reported as doing well.

POLO MAN IS SERGEANT.

Private Fred Folk of Polo, Ill., has received his warrant as sergeant in Company L, 342d Infantry, at Camp Grant.

RUSS PACIFISTS NAME A CABINET OF BOLSHIEVIKS

Lenine, Rebel Leader, Is Made Premier of Russia.

NO AMERICANS INJURED

Confiscate All State and Church Lands to Peasants.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

Petrograd, Nov. 10.—The all-Russian congress of workmen and soldiers' delegates is reported unofficially to have named a cabinet composed of Bolshieviks and then adjourned. The cabinet is headed by Nikolai Lenine as premier and Leon Trotsky holds the post of foreign minister. The cabinet will serve until the constituent assembly approves it or selects a new one.

The minister of labor is a laboring man and one member of the committee on war and marine is a sailor.

The congress took action to turn over to the land committee for distribution the landed estates and state and church lands.

The lands of the Cossacks and peasants will not be confiscated.

The banks in Petrograd reopened today and the city is quiet.

Francais Sends Report.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The first reports from American Ambassador Francis on the upheaval in Russia arrived today but added nothing to the news dispatches that had already been received.

The ambassador's dispatches said all the ministers of the provisional government except Kerensky had been arrested.

American representatives of the Red Cross in Petrograd were safe and no mention was made of harm to any other Americans.

FORMER DIXONITE IS DROWNED IN FLORIDA

ALBERT SWARTZ MEETS WITH A TRAGIC DEATH AT PALM BEACH

Word was received this morning by Mrs. John Fischer of this city of the death by drowning of her step-father, Albert Swartz, at Palm Beach, Fla. Mr. Swartz and his wife accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Stegmann, the former a step-son of the deceased, to Palm Beach in September to spend the winter there. The aged man and his wife had resided in Dixon since 1896 when they came here from Germany. Mr. Swartz followed the mason trade, working with Contractors Baum and Whipperman. No details of just how Mr. Swartz met his death have been received.

Mr. Swartz was born in Germany, in the city of Weimar, June 6, 1847. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and four step-children, Mrs. Herman Rammelt and Mrs. John Fischer of this city, Hugo Stegmann of Paris, Beach and Karl Stegmann of Erfurt, Germany. Burial will probably be at Palm Beach.

O'LEARY WINS AT RICE RINK

Dan O'Leary, champion long distance walker of the world, in spite of his 76 years, won his race at the Rice roller skating rink last evening, defeating John Edous and Edw. Marnil. The boys skated two and one-half miles while O'Leary walked one mile and O'Leary beat their time by a narrow but safe margin. The boys skated in relays.

Tonight O'Leary's contestants are promising a surprise for him but he expects to beat them. There will be three of them, skating in relays. Mr. O'Leary's time last night for the mile was seven minutes and forty seconds.

FOR OPERATION.

Mrs. Claude Trumble was taken to the hospital today for a slight operation.

THE WEATHER

Saturday, Nov. 10.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) Partly cloudy, probably showers this afternoon on tonight. Sunday generally fair and slightly colder.

GERMANY RESPONSIBLE FOR DEPORTATION OF GREEKS FROM TURKEY

Greek Authorities Learn of Intrigues in Turk Cities.

700,000 PERSECUTED

Athens, Greece (Correspondence).—Greek authorities have received information which convinces them that not alone the Turk but his German advisors were responsible for the deportation of Greeks from Turkish dominions, as a consequence of which 700,000 have suffered persecution or death.

It is asserted that the Greek legation at Constantinople protested to the then King Constantine of Greece from the beginning of the deportations but received no assistance or encouragement from him. The legation then lodged a protest with Talaat Bey, the Turkish Grand Vizier.

His reply, as shown by official papers was that "these measures" are taken by advice of our German advisors." The Greek legation then took up the subject with the German General, Liman von Sanders, who is declared to have replied that the presence of the Greek community within the Ottoman empire was dangerous to military operations and that he was "only executing the orders of the German general staff."

FREEPORT SANTA GETTING READY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) Freeport, Ill., Nov. 10.—Even though candy has advanced considerably in price, Wm. Ascher, Freeport contractor, who has played Santa Claus to the children of Freeport at every Christmas for a quarter of a century, will remember his little friends as usual this year. Mr. Ascher has placed an order for a ton of candy, thousands of toys and two score of boxes of oranges and apples, from which the gift packages to be distributed at his office on Christmas day will be made up. A week in advance of the holiday a force of young women will start filling the boxes so that when the line forms in front of the Ascher office every youngster may be served promptly. Mr. Ascher has expended thousands of dollars on Freeport children.

MAKE PROGRESS ON LORD'S HILL

The contractors are making excellent progress on the continuation of the brick work on Lord's Hill. About one-third of the distance has been covered with four inches of cement, on which the brick will eventually be laid, and with favorable weather the remainder of the road to be improved will be cemented within a fortnight. In case winter sets in too early to allow placing any brick, the road will be thrown open for traffic over the cement.

I. W. W. MEMBERS GET FLOGGING

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) Tulsa, Okla., Nov. 10.—The whereabouts early today of the 17 half-naked, severely beaten members of the I. W. W., seized from policemen, flogged with a cat-o-nine tails and tarred and feathered here last night by a band of 60 black robed and hooded "Knights of Liberty" was unknown.

MANY GET TREES FROM DIXON PARK

L. W. Mitchell, who has had charge of the distribution of the young trees taken from John Dixon Park to enhance the beauty of the foliage there states that nearly all of the trees at his disposal have been taken. The past week marked the seventy-fifth anniversary of the presentation of the park to the little community by Father Dixon.

TO INSPECT WORK ON STATUE AT VICKSBURG

C. H. Noble of this city, president of the Illinois Vicksburg Statue commission, and W. B. Murdie of Chicago, architect, will leave on Tuesday for Vicksburg, Miss., to inspect the granite work and foundation for the statue to be placed in the National Military Park.

The statues to be erected are a bronze equestrian statue of General Grant, General McClelland and the heroic statue of General Logan.

CRITICALLY ILL.

W. V. E. Steel is critically ill at Mercy hospital, Chicago, of pneumonia.

SON BORN.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lowery, 918 Jackson, are the parents of a baby son, born yesterday noon.

HARMON PRIEST SERIOUSLY ILL

Rev. Fr. McKeon of St. Flannen's parish, Harmon, is very ill of pneumonia and a Chicago specialist was called in consultation Friday. Two nurses are caring for him.

CATHOLIC FAIR WILL OPEN THIS EVENING

YOUNG PEOPLE OF CHURCH HOPE TO BREAK ALL RECORDS.

The fair season will open in Dixon this evening with the first night of the annual St. Patrick's Catholic church bazaar and with every indication of a record breaking night. The young people of the church are in charge of the fair this year and they are using every effort to make it a big success. The young ladies of St. Mary's Guild will have a refreshment booth, there will be fancy work, etc., on sale, and the dance floor should be kept busy. The Marquette orchestra furnishes the music for the dancers this evening.

ELKS WILL HAVE BIG SUPPER-DANCE SOON

SOCIAL FUNCTION WILL BE HELD THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20.

Members of Dixon lodge B. P. O. Elks and their families will be interested in an announcement made by the House Committee this morning of a scramble supper, card party and dance to be held at the club Tuesday evening, Nov. 20. The following ladies have been named as a committee to assist the House Committee:

Mrs. James Webster Poole, Wm. Cahill, Will Chilverton, Wm. Covert, Robert Fulton, Ed. Dysart, Max Eichler, John Herbst, L. R. Evans, C. E. Smith, A. Goodman, Wm. Schuler, Charles Leake, Guy Merriman, J. W. Crawford, Frank Stephan, C. H. Stackpole, Bert Smice, A. T. Tourtellott, Jacob Schuele, R. W. Thompson, John Forrest and Frank Butterlin.

The committee will meet at the club next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock to make preliminary arrangements for the affair.

LOCAL GROCER'S GOVT. LICENSE

George J. Downing this morning received his license from the United States Food Administration giving him the right to retail grocery products. The license was among the first thousand issued by the administration, its number being 923.

ROADS TO CAMP GRANT ARE GOOD

Barring possible rain tonight, the roads to Rockford and Camp Grant are good, and the boys of Company M, from Lee county, have sent word to their friends and relatives here that they want them to know that there is nothing to prevent a nice auto trip to the camp tomorrow. The sight of home faces, even if they should be homely faces, is good to the boys in the camp. So drive up there and see them tomorrow. They are in Barracks 1915, Company M, 142nd Regiment.

GETS NEW MACHINE.

Lt. C. C. Remington of Cornell Medical corps of New York, in the X-ray department, visited Dr. Parker yesterday and while here installed a new X-ray and electrical treatment machine in his office.

BRITISH DRIVE GERMANS BACK ON WEST FRONT

Haig's Men Go Over the Top Successfully This Morning.

ITALIANS CHECK FOE

Italians Check Teutons—Surrounded Guard Fights Through.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) British Front in France, Nov. 10.—British troops attacked this morning in the Passendale area and were reported at an early hour to have battled their way forward 800 yards at some points.

The British passed many strongly fortified farms northwest and north of Coeberg. At this point they were fighting nearly half a mile from their jumping off place.

Today's operations were carried out on a 2500 yard front for limited objectives which had been virtually all gained by 10 o'clock.

Germans Beaten Back.

Paris, Nov. 10.—German troops undertook a series of advances during last night against French positions to the northwest of Rheims. They were repulsed.

Huns Bomb Hospital.

Paris, Nov. 10.—German aviators dropped bombs on a French hospital at Zuydcoote, department of Nord, killing seven and wounding nine persons. Dunkirk was again bombarded, six casualties being reported.

Italians Check Foe.

Rome, Nov. 10.—The enemy has been checked in the Odrò Valley, the war office announces. A hostile thrust in the Tesino basin has also been checked. From Susegana to the sea the Italian rear guards crossed the Piave river, blowing up bridges.

An Italian rear guard force was surrounded at Lorenzago but has succeeded in forcing its way out.

Berlin Report.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—The Austro-German forces which are invading northern Italy have reached the Piave river. Asiago has been captured.

The Piave river has been reached all the way from Susegana to the Adriatic.

Asiago is on the Trentino front, twenty miles west of the Piave river, along which the Italians have been expected to fight a decisive battle. The capture of Asiago indicates that the Germans and Austrians have begun an offensive on the Trentino front in an effort to outflank the Piave line.

The breaking of the Italian front at this point probably would entail retirement of the Italians from the Piave line.

WONT RECOGNIZE REBELS. Washington, Nov. 10.—The Russian embassy announced this afternoon it would refuse to accept the authority of the Maximalists.

GERMANS IN HELSINGFORS?

Stockholm, Nov. 10.—Helsingfors, capital of Finland, has been entered by the Germans, according to a press dispatch.

NO CONFIRMATION.

London, Nov. 10.—There is no official confirmation here for the Stockholm report that the Germans have entered Helsingfors.

ELECTRIC SIGNS UNDER BAN

Will Permit Their Use Only at Cer tain Hours.
Washington, Nov. 10.—Fuel Admin istrator Garfield on Friday issued his order darkening all advertising "white ways" in the country before 7:45 p. m. and after 11 p. m. Advertising signs burning electricity made from coal or coke may remain lighted only between these hours.
Coal supplies to industries classed as nonessential will be sharply re duced within a few days.
Industries are now being classified and those whose products are not necessary in the conduct of the war will be supplied with fuel in limited quantities. If the present coal short age persists they will be cut off en tirely.
To relieve the coal shortage in Ohio and Michigan, the fuel administration will suspend for one day, November 19, the priority order under which most of the coal mined in the central field is going to the lakes for transship ment to the Northwest.

BOY WITH ENGINEERS TELLS OF INCIDENTS

prayer that they did not hit our bar racks. I was too tired to stay up and just fell asleep amid all the noise of the cannonading.
"The aces come every night with out fail, except during a heavy rain. They fly low and drop bombs, and also use the machine guns on us as we run to our dugouts and trenches. And they are very accurate with them, too.
"These machine guns are differ ent and better from the one Tom bosses. When we arrived here two weeks ago we found the walls ridd led with shrapnel and machine gun bullet holes. These we patched up and now are quite comfortable, de spite the very heavy rains and the exceptionally deep mud that is usual in this country. The weather is al ways damp, and tell Tom to bring a good moisture proof cover to his heading roll, as well as a pair of hip boots, as the mud is over your knees. It is some slime.
"And also tell Tom to bring along a flannel bandage or strip to wrap around his stomach and intestines. It will save him a lot of stomach aches. And also tell him to bring plenty of United States tobacco for himself, as the French tobacco is too strong for the Irishman even.
"But we are going to win this war before he gets over here. We are pounding them day and night. I wish I could tell you what we are doing over on our own sector, but I can't. The English up in Flanders and in the mud are giving them hell, while we are keeping them on the jump here.
"I am at the front and it is noisier than a political argument in the of fice. You should have seen me fall on my face when a Hun just missed me by fifty yards the other day and threw dirt and rocks all over me. They sure make some big hole and the noise gives one a headache.
"I am studying French with a French captain here, and while out riding with him they dropped a shell right in front of us, and I beat my horse to the next town. Then we stood on the top of a high hill and watched our guns bring down the German aero that was directing the fire of the German guns. He passed right over our heads on his way down. We heard the rush of his wings through the air. I shook hands with my comrade.
"The other day we saw one brought down from a height of three and one-half miles. The pilot had his head blown off, yet the machine descended so slowly without human guidance that the observer in the German aero was only slightly in jured when landing.
"Their aces have almost auto matic control. You would be sur prised at the agility with which they, and ours, too, can swoop down, dip, dive, spiral or turn over just like an eagle. And the air battles be tween aces are exciting. The other night I watched an aero fight right over our heads in the bright moon light. I am going to go up in one as soon as I can.
"From where I sit now I can see five 'sausage' observation balloons and they are shelling the Germans by direction of these aerial observa tion balloons. Everything is very scientifically handled over here.
"We are very well taken care of, the food is wholesome, and every thing is what we expect it. We will get our winter underwear in a day or two, so we will be fixed for the winter. Mother is knitting me a sweater.
"There will be no more political arguments with me now, as I intend to vote for Wilson as often as I can, and the Lord knows that if we had Big Bill over here you would elect another mayor. The troops are so thoroughly disgusted with him that he would lead an awful life here.
"Jack."

Mother Kills Daughters and Self—Said She Was "Nerve Crazy."
Churchville, N. Y., Nov. 10.—John Ratigan found his wife, Eleanor, for ty-two, and their three daughters, Eleanor, seven; Mary, five, and Mar tha, three months old, drowned in the cistern beneath the kitchen floor. A note left by his wife read: "There is $1,000 or more in savings bank, Roch ester, in my name, for all help and every thing. Good-by, all. Lena. Nerve crazy."

THEATERS CAN PAY TAX

Box Office Need Not Collect 10 Per Cent From Patrons.
Washington, Nov. 10.—Moving pic ture theaters and other amusement places may pay the war tax of one cent for each ten-cent admission charge without collecting it from patrons, In ternal Revenue Commissioner Roper ruled. The ruling was in response to queries whether it was legal for a theater to advertise "Admission still ten cents. We pay your war tax."

KAISER HAS HOPE IN LENINE

Germans Warned Not to Expect Too Much From Russ Revolt.
Amsterdam, Nov. 10.—"It is best for the Germans not to have too great hopes of the latest Russian develop ment," the Cologne Gazette cautions, according to German dispatches re ceived here. "The Russians are er ratic," the editorial declared. "Le nine's appeal may have influence, how ever."
Doctor Wagner Dies in Berlin.
Amsterdam, Nov. 10.—Dr. Adolph Wagner, former professor of Jurisprudence and political economy at the University of Berlin, is dead at his home in Berlin. Doctor Wagner was eighty-two years old and resigned his chair in the University of Berlin in January. He was a life member of the Prussian house of lords. Doctor Wagner had an honorary degree from the University of Wisconsin.

RUSSIAN REBEL DEMANDS PEACE; ARMY IN REVOLT

London, Nov. 10.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company from Petrograd says the members of the Petrograd municipal council and the peasant delegates to the workmen's and soldiers' congress, together with the Minimalists, have decided not to acknowledge the authority of the Bol sheviki and will issue an appeal to the nation regarding the coup d'etat.
Petrograd, Nov. 10.—Rumors of the escape of Lieut. Gen. L. G. Korniloff, who, since the collapse of his army re volt against Premier Kerensky in the fall, has been confined in a provincial town, were circulated in the capital.

Petrograd, Nov. 10.—The revolution ary committee, supported by the military garrison, has taken over all government offices in Moscow, accord ing to a telegram received by David R. Francis, the American ambassador, from the American consul general in Moscow. The dispatch from the con sul general was dated Thursday and added that conditions in the city were quiet.

Lenine Calls for Armistice.
"We plan to offer an immediate arm istice of three months, during which elected representatives from all na tions and not the diplomats are to settle the question of peace," said Nikolai Lenine, the Maximalist leader, in a speech before the workmen's and soldiers' congress of all Russia, with the radical element in control of the capital havin gouted the Kerensky government after a battle in the streets.

"We offer these terms," M. Lenine added, "but we are willing to consider any proposals for peace, no matter from which side. We offer a just peace and will not accept unjust terms."
Two detachments of troops headed for Petrograd, in response to an early appeal from Premier Kerensky, were met outside the city by commissio ners and persuaded to return to the front.

The armies on the northern front elected a revolutionary committee which declared in support of the congress. A delegation from the Eleventh army has joined the revolted garrison.

Fleet With Revolt.
A dispatch from Helsingfors, Fin land, says that delegates from the Baltic fleet and army committees have resolved to adhere to the revolution ary committee. The revolutionary committee at Reval has occupied all the important strategic points.

A French officer, it is reported, was wounded during Wednesday night's action. The losses of the workmen's and soldiers' organization are said to be one sailor killed and several wounded. The casualties among the defenders of the Winter palace are placed at about thirty killed and wounded.

The congress of workmen's and sol diers' delegates appealed to the Rus sian army to stand firm and to pro tect the revolution against imperialist at tempts until the new govern ment had obtained a democratic peace. Its proclamation announcing that it has taken over governmental authority says:

"We appeal to the soldiers in the trenches to be vigilant and firm. The congress expects the revolutionary army will protect the revolution against all imperialist attempts until the new government has obtained a democratic peace, which it will propose directly to all the peoples."

Promises Return of Land.

The proclamation further declares that the congress will propose an armistice, to go into force at once on all fronts.
"The power of the workmen's and soldiers' delegates will assure the free return of all private, state and eccle siastical lands to the peasants' com mittee. It will guarantee to all na tionalities inhabiting Russia the right of their sons to organize their own future."

"The parties of General Korniloff, Kerensky, Kadetines and others are endeavoring to move troops upon Petrograd, but several detachments of troops who were with Kerensky have already passed over to the side of the people in revolt."

"Soldiers, oppose the active resist ance of Kerensky, that partisan of Korniloff. You railway men, stop the forces that Kerensky is sending to Petrograd."

Kerensky Reported Captured.
Amsterdam, Nov. 10.—The Rheinische Westfalsche Zeitung of Essen, Germany, publishes a Stockholm tele gram, saying that Premier Kerensky has been arrested.

Brazil Closes Rio Janeiro Port.
Rio Janeiro, Nov. 10.—The govern ment has issued a decree ordering the closing of the port of Rio Janeiro.

HOOVER PLEDGE AID BEATEN

Minnesota Housewife Arrested After Attack on Teacher.
Virginia, Minn., Nov. 10.—Miss Ruth Butler, school teacher, was severely beaten about the face while circulating a Hoover food pledge here. One house wife has been arrested. Miss Butler's injuries are not dangerous.

Finland Near Famine.
Copenhagen, Nov. 10.—That Finland is facing a famine this winter is the information sent to President Wilson by Professor Wead. The entire na tion, he says, is desperate and the out look hopeless.

ALLIES TO HAVE BOARD

War Committee to Direct Fight ing on West Fronts.

Believed Body Will Consist of Premier and Members of War Council of Each Power.

Paris, Nov. 10.—The Temp's Italian frontier correspondent, dealing with the meeting of the British, French and Italian premiers, says an agreement was reached to create an inter-allied war committee, on which will be rep resented the powers whose forces are engaged on the western front.

"The details of the agreement are not known," says the correspondent, "but there is reason to believe that the committee will consist of the premier and a member of the war coun cil of each power, with a permanent military delegate of the inter-allied committee to examine the plans of op erations drawn up by each ally's staff and give a decision on them."

"The committee will meet at least twice a month. The creation of the inter-allied committee will not prevent the general in chief of each country remaining responsible to his govern ment for the operations he is direct ing."

Our Greatest Pleasures.
J. Fuller Gloom—Our fondest hopes go hand in hand with the realization of their utter futility. I yearn to see a long-bearded man get his whiskers tangled in one of those taffy-twisting machines that we observe in the candy stores, but of course there is not one chance in a million that I shall ever have the pleasure.—Kansas City Star.

Queer Customs of British Navy.
There are very many ancient cus toms in the British navy, some of which are "wrapt in mystery." For instance, when officers go aboard or leave their ship, it is invariably the case that the junior steps into the boat before his senior, although at the end of the journey the order is reversed. This curious custom is as old as the navy itself.

Careless Management.
If the term "carelessness" must be used, it might well be applied to man agement which permits hazards to ex ist; but surely not to the injured themselves, for self-preservation is the first law of nature, and it is incon ceivable that anyone with rare excep tions, should wilfully permit or cause injury to themselves.—H. Weaver Mowery, in Industrial Management.

Dinner Party.
Mrs. George Steel entertained eight guests at the Nachusa tavern last evening at a dinner party.

Sophomore Girls Sew.
The Sophomore girls of the Dixon high school have organized a sewing class under the direction of Miss Thompson, one of the high school instructors, and have also taken up the Red Cross work, the making of bandages, etc. The Junior and Senior girls of the high school recently organized Red Cross clubs for the same purpose. Of the patriotism of the girls of the Dixon high school there is certainly no doubt.

Were Charivariated.
Thirty young people of Palmyra gathered before the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Martin with a large number of din making instruments on Thursday evening to charivari Mr. and Mrs. Guy Book (the latter was formerly Miss Margaret Martin) who had just returned from their wedding trip. Of course the members of the charivari party were invited in quickly and treated to candy, fruit and cigars. A pleasant social evening was enjoyed.

Sung at Presbyterian.
Miss Bertha Bennett, chorister at the Grace Evangelical church, sang "There's a Beautiful Land on High" by Mrs. H. H. Taylor, at a special service at the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening. Mrs. Wm. Lee served as accompanist. The number was beautifully rendered and highly appreciated.

To Florida.
Miss Grace Altman will leave on Monday for Florida, where she will spend the remainder of the winter.

Inter Nos Circle Postponed.
As so many of the members of the Inter Nos Circle are out of town the meeting, to have been held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Hoberg, was postponed until the coming Thursday, Nov. 15.

Rebekah Lodge Met.
The Rebekah lodge met in regular session last evening. There was work during the business session, which was followed by the enjoying of a social time, during which light refreshments were served.

Palmyra Mutual Aid.
The Palmyra Mutual Aid society will hold an all day meeting Wednesday, November 14th, with Mrs. John Smythe.

Observes Meatless, Wheatless Days
That the ladies of Dixon are generally observing the meatless and wheatless days is quite certain and some of the clubs and societies are voting the observance of them in a body. This was done Friday afternoon by the Candelighters of First Presbyterian church, meeting at the church. For those who cannot have three wheatless or meatless meals in one day, it was suggested that such meals be served on some other days in the week in order to round out a full wheatless and meatless day. The plans were made at this meeting, which was a largely attended and enthusiastic one, to serve supper at the time of the bazar, Nov. 21.

Entertained.
Mrs. Paul Crabtree and the Misses Doyle delightedly entertained the Lady Foresters last evening at the home of the former as a surprise to their mother, Mrs. Anna Doyle, in whose honor the affair was given. Knitting and cards were the diversions of the evening, with delicious refreshments served at its close.

Surprised Scoutmaster
Boy Scouts of troop No. 5 met in the dining room of the Presbyterian church Friday evening in a scramble supper, with the pastor of the church, Rev. A. J. Holland, their scoutmaster, as a farewell for him, with the object especially of presenting him with a gold pencil. Of course the gift was to be an immense surprise to the pastor, and it was, but the boys, in their turn, were more than surprised and delighted when they found a knife at each place as a gift from the scoutmaster. The evening was a happy one, only marred for the boys by the thought that they would not have their scoutmaster, whom they so highly respect, with them for very many more meetings.

To Visit Parents.
Mrs. W. L. Shoetz of Savannah arrived Friday evening to make her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Eichenberg, a few days' visit.

Cleared Neat Sum.
Nearly sixty dollars ($57.15 in actual figures) resulted from the sale of boxes at the social given at the Lievan school Friday evening. Miss Estella Lievan is the teacher and under her direction a most delightful evening's entertainment had been arranged. Red, white and blue decorations were attractively disposed about the neat schoolroom. Sam Forney, South Dixon auctioneer, disposed of boxes quickly under spirited bidding.

Guest From Oklahoma
Mrs. Kate Scholler of Enid, Okla., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Frye.

Buckley-Anderson
At St. Patrick's church in Maytown his morning at 10 o'clock the marriage of Miss Grace Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson of Ohio, Ill., to Harry J. Buckley, a son of Supervisor and Mrs. James Buckley of Maytown, was solemnized by Rev. Fr. Porcella in the presence of a company of friends and relatives. Miss Ruth Sharkey served as maid of honor and Edwin Friel performed the duties of best man. Frank Buckley, a brother of the bridegroom, played the wedding march preceding the ceremony.

An attractive tailored suit of brown with hat of the same rich shade was worn by the bride, a corsage bouquet of pink sweet peas adding a pretty color note. The maid of honor also was attired in a brown suit.
A wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home in Ohio after the ceremony, and from there the young people left on their honeymoon trip. The destination is being kept a secret from their friends. Upon their return they will make their home on a farm in Maytown where Mr. Buckley has the house already furnished for his bride. Mr. and Mrs. Buckley are well known young people of prominent families and have the esteem and best wishes of many friends.

Phidian Art Club Lecture.
On the afternoon of November 24 in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Mrs. Hoffman of Chicago will lecture on a patriotic society through the invitation of the Phidian Art club of this city. The club has extended an invitation to all the clubs of the city to hear with them this interesting speaker. Mrs. Hoffman's husband is engaged in Y. M. C. A. work on the battlefields of France and Mrs. Hoffman was with him in France in the early days of the war and consequently has much first hand information that will be enlightening to the club women of Dixon in regard to conditions on the other side. Mrs. Hoffman is a personal friend of Mrs. Paul Lord of this city and it was through Mrs. Lord that Mrs. Hoffman's services were secured.

Luther League Social.
On Thursday evening, Nov. 15, the members of the German Luther League will hold a basket social at the church, to which all the young people of the church are invited.

Anything from pumpkin pie to a dance with your best girl at the Harvest Home Festival at Rosbrook hall Friday evening. Look for the girl with the many pockets. Admission 10 cents.

Needs More Workers.

That more workers are needed at the Red Cross workshop, was the statement made at the shop Friday afternoon. Whether the women of Dixon are resting on past accomplishments or whether they are all knitting is not known—possibly the latter—but certain it is that the work of making bandages must go on, and this can be done nowhere so well as have been made for it. The sewers of bandages are few, scarce a dozen some afternoons when at least 50 or 75 could be accommodated nicely in the commodious workroom. The sewing machines above stairs, turning out the white surgical garments or the suits of pajamas for wear of the wounded in hospitals, are busy every afternoon and many of the garments are tied in neat packages awaiting packing and four boxes of knitted articles were shipped away Friday, so it seems that only the bandages suffer. So have a heart, women of Dixon, and with the knowledge that the first of our wounded boys are receiving Red Cross aid in France, let your housework slacken if necessary and save the knitting for odd hours and evenings and put your afternoon hours in at the Red Cross workshop making bandages. There'll be more of our boys needing them in a little while.

In Friday's shipment went four boxes of knitting and one box, containing 50 pajamas. The boxes of knitted goods contained 80 sweaters, 65 pairs of socks, 87 pairs of wristlets, 26 helmets and 55 scarfs. This swells the grand total of what Lee county women have knitted to 575 scarfs, 410 pairs of wristlets, 356 sweaters, 240 pairs of socks and 92 helmets. This makes our quota in everything but sweaters, socks and helmets. But the fact that the quota is so nearly reached doesn't give us an excuse for stopping knitting as every thing we can knit will find a wearer among our soldier boys for some time to come.

One of the best looking sweaters was turned in at the shop Friday afternoon, every stitch of it knitted by a man. This same man has also knitted a helmet, one of the articles that most of the women seem to avoid as especially difficult. It is suggested that here is a good occupation for more men as knitting, a good pipe, and an easy chair doesn't make more of a quarrelsome combination than the well known one of a good book to read, aforesaid pipe and chair.

To Visit Sister.
W. C. Weiden, purchasing agent for the Colorado Southern railroad, is expected here today for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Chas. Plein.

Son Born.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lowery, Jackson avenue, are the parents of a nine pound son, born to their home Friday morning.

At Dr. Rice Home.
Mrs. Claude Murphy and son James of Chicago are here to spend the week end at the Dr. Rice home.

Announce Coming Marriage.
DeKalb Chronicle: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith of Rochelle have issued invitations for the marriage of their eldest daughter, Gladys Louise, to William Wilson Anderson of Ohio, Ill., on Saturday, Nov. 17, at 1 p. m. Miss Smith is a graduate of Rochelle high school, 1910, attended Western College at Oxford, O., two years, also the State Normal school at DeKalb and last June graduated with a degree in household arts from the University of Illinois. She is a member of the Sigma Kappa sorority. Mr. Anderson won his letter in football at the University of Illinois and is a fraternity man. The young people will be at home to their many friends after the first of December at Ohio, Ill.

Harvest Home Festival.
The Harvest Home Festival and dancing party given by the members of St. Agnes Guild at Rosbrook hall on Friday evening was an immense success socially, although the crowd might have been larger and financial returns greater. The hall was very attractive in autumn decorations of cornstalks, pumpkins, etc. A booth at which refreshments of pumpkin pie, sandwiches, coffee, etc., were served was one of the most popular places and candy and flower booths, furnished by the Marquette orchestra, was as always very good and the evening was pleasantly spent in dancing by most of those present, though there was quite a line of spectators.

Entertained.
Mrs. Howard Johnson, Mrs. W. D. Baum, Mrs. S. D. Eastwood and Mrs. Charles Russell were guests Friday at the James P. Wilson home in Polo.

From DeKalb.
Miss Charlotte Campbell and Miss Margaret McTague, students at DeKalb normal, are home for a week-end visit.

Hoi Polloi Club.
Mrs. Fred Hoberg will entertain the Hoi Polloi club Monday evening.

Resumes Work as Organist.
Miss Mary Hintz is much improved in health and has resumed her work as organist at the First Presbyterian church.

For Class Member.
Miss Ona Woodburn, assisted by Misses Dorothy Raymond and Alice Coppins, entertained at the home of Miss Dorothy this afternoon the members of Miss Woodburn's Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church for Miss Margaret Holland. The affair was in the nature of a farewell party and tempting light refreshments were served.

From Motine.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Cowell of Motine motored to Dixon and were the guests of friends, continuing to Rockford today.

To Michigan.
Mrs. Lena Kalbfleisch left today for Coldwater, Mich., to spend the winter.

Queen Esthers.
Members of the Queen Esther society of the Methodist church have been invited to the E. S. McCleary country home on Monday evening.

To Camp Grant.
John Lawton and daughters, the Misses Florence, Anna and Eva, and his nephew, Mervin Lawton drove to Camp Grant today.

At Kingdom.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. J. son Clifford and daughter, Miss Ora, entertained 46 friends at their new home, the former Joshua Reed home in the Kingdom. A delicious chicken pie dinner was served at 7 o'clock and the evening was passed in games. Each one present was expected to give some stunt to assist in the entertainment of the others and the result was a merry evening.

From Chicago.
Mrs. Earl Beier of Chicago is visiting at the John Glessner and Wm. Beier homes. She has with her her little son William.

In Rockford.
Mrs. James Sterling is spending the week-end in Rockford visiting her husband, who is at the training camp.

At Saxmann Home.
Ex-Governor E. O. Eberhart of Minnesota was a guest at the home of Mrs. R. B. and H. E. Saxmann on Friday afternoon and evening, leaving on an early train for an extended trip.

Children Hear Story.
That the Saturday morning "story hour" at the Dixon Public library is a success from the start is certain, as thirty children presented themselves at the library at 10 o'clock this morning to hear the story of "Old Man Rabbit's Thanksgiving Dinner." To say that the children were interested doesn't half express it—they were delighted and made the most of the opportunity by listening with all their ears.

Auger-Hammarstrom
Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Erie Adele Hammarstrom to Gregoire Narcisse Auger of Chicago, which took place at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Edward Zoeller, 820 Sixth street, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. A. J. Holland performed the service.

At Dinner Sunday.
Miss Alice Lehman will entertain at dinner Sunday in honor of Miss Doris Plum of Polo, the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Manherz, Miss Lulu Meats, Miss Josephine Boyd, Miss Anna Mossholder, Mr. Mossholder, Rev. Mr. Rarick, Calen Gerdes and Clinton Webber.

Girl Charges Film Star and Relatives Assaulted Her.

New York, Nov. 10.—Clara Kimball Young, film star, and four of her relatives, were named co-defendants in a $25,000 damage action begun by the filing of a summons and complaint in the country clerk's office by attorneys representing Dorothy Palmer, said by the attorneys to be the Dorothy von Palmgren who figured in the recent murder trial of Dr. Arthur Warren Waite.

"Without provocation, on the morning of January 2, at three o'clock, the defendants wilfully, maliciously, and violently beat and assaulted the plaintiff by punching and kicking her about the head, arms and limbs," according to the complaint.

TURKISH ARMY IS RETREATING

Allies Driving Moslems to North of Palestine—Forty Guns Captured.

London, Nov. 10.—The entire Turkish army in Palestine is retreating toward the north. British airplanes are following up the retreating Turks and bombing them. Forty Turkish guns were captured, says the British official statement announcing the Ottoman retreat. British and French naval forces are co-operating against the Turkish communications along the Mediterranean coast.

FRENCH REPULSE 2 ATTACKS

Germans Suffer Heavy Losses in Fighting at Verdun.

Paris, Nov. 10.—Two German attacks at Chaume wood (Verdun front) were repulsed with heavy losses, according to official report. French troops carried out successful surprise attacks in the Argonne and in the region of Avocourt wood.

In upper Alsace a French detachment made a raid on German trenches northwest of Bisl in the region of Seppois.

MICHIGAN BANK IS ROBBED

Auto Bandits Wreck Building; Escape With $18,000.

Jackson, Mich., Nov. 10.—The Farmers States bank in the village of Concord, ten miles south of here, was wrecked by burglars. The bandits escaped with about $18,000 in cash. Explosions in the bank attracted several citizens, but they were kept at bay by armed men in front of the bank. Telegraph and telephone wires had been cut. The men escaped in two automobiles.

GENERAL DIAZ CHOSEN TO LEAD ITALIAN ARMY

Italian Army Headquarters, Nov. 10.—The conference of British, French and Italian representatives has resulted in the creation of a permanent inter-allied military committee. New leadership for the Italian army has been provided.

General Cadorna, who has been in supreme command of the Italian army since the beginning of the war, has been given a place on the new committee.

New Heads for Army.
New heads of the Italian army have been named. General Diaz has been appointed first in command, with General Badoglio second and General Grandino third.

General Foch, chief of staff of the French war ministry, and General Wilson, subchief of the British general staff, will serve on the inter-allied committee with General Cadorna.

Among military officers the decision of the allies to create a permanent military committee has caused great satisfaction. It is accepted as evidence that the allies have awakened to the necessity for the closest union of the whole length of the western front for the political and military conduct of the war.

Diaz Able Leader.
General Diaz is rated as one of the ablest Italian military leaders.

General Badoglio is a northerner. In the war he has been in command of a brigade of Bersaglieri, whose heroic deeds have done much to decrease the gravity of the disaster.

General Grandino was minister of war in the cabinet of Premier Boselli. He was one of the leading generals.

Retreat According to Plan.
The Italians continue their retreat in accordance with the plan of the general staff.

From the Treviso Mills they are pouring down a rain of shells on the Germans and Austrians, making them pay a heavy price for the ground they gain.

A dozen bridges have been blown up on the Livenza river to arrest and delay as much as possible the advance of the Austro-Germans toward the Piave river.

Allied Troops Go to Front.
Italian Military Zone, Nov. 10.—Both British and French troops are going toward the front.

coming the resistance of the Italian

The French and British representatives who have come to Italy had a conference of two hours with King Victor Emmanuel.

The military measures called for by the present situation were discussed in active and cordial collaboration. On leaving the king the party visited French and British troops going toward the front.

Allied Troops Confident.

London, Nov. 10.—Arrival of British and French troops, gay, confident and sure of themselves, has had a tremendously stimulating effect on the Italian fighters, according to a dispatch from Reuter's correspondent at General Cadorna's headquarters.

Italians Hold Back Enemy.

Rome, Nov. 10.—The Italians are still holding back the Austrians and Germans by rear-guard actions, while the main body of the troops is establishing itself on the positions chosen for the resistance, says the official statement.

Queen Elena placed her apartments in the Quirinal palace at the disposal of refugee children from invaded Italy.

Teutons Push Toward Piave.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—The Austro-German forces in northern Italy, overcoming the resistance of the Italian

put guards, are advancing toward the Piave river, the war office announces.

WESTERN LINES ASK RAISE

Carriers' Plea Will Be Heard on Proposed Rate Boost on Dec. 17.

Washington, Dec. 10.—Western railroads asked the interstate commerce commission for a conference to discuss a general freight rate advance, similar to that now under consideration before the commission for Eastern roads, and December 17 was assigned for the conference.

The request came in a telegram from E. S. Keeley, vice president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

TEUTONS WIN ALAND ISLANDS

Germans Capture Greater Part of Island Group.

Copenhagen, Nov. 10.—German troops landed Thursday on the Island of Aland in the Baltic sea and occupied the greater part of the island group, according to a dispatch from Uleaborg to the Stockholm Nya Dagbladet.

HAS THE WAR PAID GERMANY?
Germany's present financial condition shows that her original plan was to conquer France and England. Heavy indemnities were to be exacted from each government, and then would come the invasion of America. But for the brave little Belgian army, the awful sacrifices of the French army and the superiority of the British navy Germany would have accomplished her purpose with America totally unprepared. The Prussian war lords have always been obsessed with the idea that they could make England and France pay for the war and then skim the cream off of America. Early in 1916 Germany was still refusing to impose heavy war taxes on the people, waiting to conquer France and England. It was then estimated that about one-sixth of her war loans had to be used to meet the interest on the existing war debt, and that in another year or two one-fourth would have to be used. Today Germany's total war debt is 72,416,300,000 marks—$18,104,000,000 in real money, or $9,000,000,000 at the present world market value of the German mark, except that when peace comes and Germany trades with other nations that war debt must be paid at the normal value of the mark.

The annual interest charges on this $18,000,000,000 amounts to about $900,000,000. This sum is exclusive of the treasury bills outstanding or discounted at the Reichsbank. Last April when the Prussian war lords began to wake up to the fact that America was in the war to a finish and they realized that their beautiful indemnity dream was a horrible nightmare they began to levy additional taxes on the people. For the fiscal year ending March 31, 1914, four months before the invasion of Belgium, the revenue for the German empire from all sources except loans was $851,000,000. Mark that—$851,000,000. This amount included $220,000,000 from post and telegraph and $41,000,000 from railways. In neither of the two years following, after the invasion of Belgium, 1915 and 1916, did the total ordinary revenue rise above $830,000,000 or $21,000,000 less than in peace times. In the German budget for the year ending last March, the "special war taxes" brought the revenue up to $915,000,000, but as this included the $242,000,000 net revenue from the railways, post and telegraph and printing offices, it left a bare $700,000,000.

But with interest payments of $900,000,000 a year it leaves the imperial revenue short by about $200,000,000 of meeting the interest on the war debt and all the while the treasury bills and new war loans must follow. In short, in addition to piling up an enormous war debt which must be paid some day in real money, the annual interest on that war debt today is $50,000,000 more a year than the entire imperial revenue of the last year of peace.

Has the war paid Germany?
DREAM COME TRUE.
The Springfield State Journal publishes a posthumous paper prepared not long before his death by the late Ethan Allen Snively, calling public attention to a physical history of Illinois compiled by one of the pioneer leaders of the state, Rev. John M. Peck. The latter was an early-day missionary, founder of Shurtleff college, who traveled the state extensively in organizing the religious interests and, at one time, in combatting the effort to make Illinois a slave state. He traveled with his eyes open. His work in presenting the physical characteristics and attractions of the state stands without a peer to this day. The last edition was issued in 1837.

The volume of Mr. Peck is of moment on the eve of the first centennial of the state in its forecast of what was to develop out of the then raw resources as he saw them. He emphasized the language of a person writing from Springfield soon after the order of removal of the state capital from Vandalia. The impressive thing in the mind of the writer was the changes wrought in five years since his previous visit. He foresaw the day when the United States should have a hundred million free men, a nation stretching from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with Illinois in the center, the finest body of fertile land possessed by any state. The founders of the state did not lack imagination nor courage nor enterprise, for the same session of the legislature which moved the capital to Springfield laid out a system of railroads and canals which was to cost ultimately $20,000,000; 40 per cent of that sum being actually provided for, as they supposed, by the measure they inaugurated. That bill would stagger a legislature today after the state has its billions. However, the inspiration was there.

OPEN AIR AND COLDS.
People who sleep in the open air are much less subject to colds than those who spend their sleeping hours in close rooms. Living in vitiated air is a direct contributory circumstance in bringing colds when the other conditions favor. Most of the colds arise from the gorging of the blood circulation in the membranes of the breathing system, including those of the nose, throat and the larger bronchial tubes. This congestion frequently arises from the chilling of the external bodily surface that is supplied by the other branch of the artery which furnishes circulation to these membranes.

A cold is held by the medical profession to be a dangerous thing. Not infrequently it presents the conditions which favor the development of the germs of tuberculosis or pneumonia; two of the affections which lead as causes of death in the United States. Most persons harbor the germs of these two diseases in the nose, throat or bronchial tubes. When conditions favor giving these a bad start no one can predict what the end will be. The chilling of the external surface which brings on a cold may in many cases be offset by rubbing the surface and stimulating the circulation there so that the chilling is overcome. That is checking the cold at the start.

Those German-paid Russian patriots who have overthrown the Kerensky government are not out of the woods yet. Petrograd is a very, very small part of Russia.

These Indian Summer evenings, when the smoke of hundreds of piles of burning leaves hangs over the city, are true to life and good to see.

SAMMIES AND FRENCH POILUS SALUTE
FLAGS AND MINGLE IN FINE FELLOWSHIP

August 25.—Last night I was awakened by yells and shooting. Surely the aeroplanes had found us, I thought. On looking out of the window I saw the sky ablaze with fire from a huge barn a few doors from us. I had a new experience— in joining a bucket brigade, as my place was in the adjoining barn, passing up buckets of water to the day now above. I was tired enough to sleep without rocking when I finally got back to bed. They were shooting mules when I arrived at the fire. The poor things were standing in the midst of flames in the barn and could not be gotten out. Everything is constructed so solidly, houses, roads and bridges, that they are practically indestructible.

Tonight, Arthur Gleason, traveler and investigator, tells my men of his experiences and observations. The Roosevelt boys are a couple of miles from our camp. We know little of the progress of the war. All sorts of rumors are constantly reaching us. Although it is August we find the nights are pretty chilly and we are sleeping under all the blankets we have. I asked a captain the other day how our soldiers were going to keep warm this winter, sleeping in barns, and he said that they wouldn't have to worry about that, for they would be up where the memory of a barn would be like that of a summer resort.

I wish you could see every American and French soldier at 5:30 p. m. stand at salute in the street, on the ball field, wherever they are. The band plays "The Marseillaise" and "The Star Spangled Banner." It is inspiring.

September 16.—This has been a wonderful week. One of our new secretaries, just over from the United States, is helping us and he is a great success. At first we asked him to fill about one hundred ink wells. And he filled them—not hesitating to ask soldiers, officers, or any one who happened to be around to help. We have elevated this young man to the position of show manager. He is to provide an entertainment for each evening. For tomorrow night he promises us a concert given by some French singers from the Opera Comique—all stars, and now in the French army. Last night we had a reception for the men in a new regiment just arrived. The hut was packed to overflowing and every window filled with lookers-in. The French orchestra played and we had snappy introduction by members of our association staff—five of them. We are having beautiful September weather. From my window I look out over fields of poppies.

September 25.—Our two huts are filled to overflowing every evening. We are supervising the work in a tent five miles away, and need more secretaries. Just stopped to see an aeroplane go over. (We always go out to look, because sometimes they're not French.) We have such a fine group of soldiers here—many of them college boys. Our huts are visited by great numbers of French soldiers, who love the music and fellowship with our Sammies. We have the jolliest times together every night (not a few men but thousands) mingling in song and entertainment, and some attempted conversation. The French Poilus and the American Sammie may know little of what the other fellow is talking about, but they are very happy together. The French orchestra plays for us again Thursday evening.

We are raising a fund among our Sammies to restore the French church near our camp, completely destroyed three years ago. A thousand dollars will make it a church again. The following was found on one of our writing tables the other day. "In case of death to my person, I wish all deposits to be handed over to the Y. M. C. A." (Soldier's Name Signed Here.)

GERMANY BLAMED FOR DEPORTATIONS

The Greeks which has been given the Associated Press states:

"The method of depopulation has been very similar to the method adopted with regard to the Armenian races. During the night, armed irregular troops of the Turkish army would form a cordon around the district doomed. The inhabitants would be awakened by means of bells and ordered to evacuate the village in ten minutes, for military reasons. No extension of time was allowed, one object being that the victims should not be able to take anything with them, either food or goods. In event of delay, the troops drove forth the terrified people at the point of the bayonet.

"The moment that the people had gone, hordes of bandits and irregular soldiers poured into the empty villages and looted and burned houses in a frenzy of destruction, while the inhabitants, old men, women and children as well as the able-bodied were on the march.

Soon after the march began the process of extermination began to be put into effect. Men were separated from their women and children, and parties were made up for a trek to various places, usually locations in far-distant parts of Asia Minor. Needless to say, few of these parties ever arrived at their destination, being gradually killed off by exposure or starvation. Without food or drink, and poorly clad, a speedy death at the hands of the soldiers would have been welcomed by many. The soldiers however, seldom attempted direct killings at this stage, except of refugees who attempted escape, the soldiery generally being content to let hunger and thirst and exposure do the work of extermination for them.

"The lot of the women and children was the usual one, which has been described many times in the accounts of the Armenian deportations. Being defenseless they fell a prey to the first passer-by. Any Turk along the way who fancied a child or young woman, merely took possession, and thousands of young Greeks are now interned in Mussulman villages, forcibly "converted" to Islam and forced to live as servants or concubines of the Turkish peasantry.

"In the neighborhood of Constantinople many of the deportees managed to return and appeared in the streets of the capital, starving, begging and sleeping in the back streets and alleys. To abate this scandal the Turkish government had the police collect hundreds of these wretched people and concentrate them at Pancaldi, where their fate is not known." It is declared that, as a result of these deportations, all Greek communities have been eliminated in the Thracian region of Demotica, Sufli, Istranja and Ergli, from the coast of the sea of Marmora, from the peninsula of Artaki, from all the villages along the Bosphorus and from the coast of the Black Sea.

SWEDEN'S WEALTH A FICTION

National indebtedness Abroad Reduced, but War Adds to Burden.
M. Trygger, leader of the conservative party, declared that Sweden has not grown more wealthy because of the war. "People frequently argue," he said, "that Sweden has become much wealthier as a consequence of the war, and that therefore we need not feel uneasy regarding the future. Such wealth, however, is only fictitious. While it is true that the nation's wealth abroad has increased immensely, domestic supplies have diminished correspondingly. The national indebtedness abroad has been reduced, but internally it has increased to a far greater degree, and taxes have risen accordingly."

EBB AND FLOW OF GERMAN FORCES ON WESTERN FRONT SINCE START OF CONFLICT

French Front (Correspondence of Associated Press).—A clear idea of the ebb and flow of the tides of German forces on the eastern and western fronts during the various phases of the war from the opening of hostilities in 1914 till the beginning of September, 1917, is obtained from carefully compiled information which the correspondent of the Associated Press is enabled to transmit.

From this it is gathered that when the Germans started the war by invading Belgium, they launched 1,190 battalions of infantry, formed into ninety-six and one-half divisions of four regiments each on to the Franco-Belgian front, while on the Russian front they employed only 322 battalions formed into twenty-six and one-half divisions of four regiments each. On September 1 this year they had on the Franco-Belgian-British front, 1,369 battalions into 147 divisions, some of which were of three and others of four regiments each, while on the Russo-Rumanian front, 955 battalions formed into ninety-two divisions were in line. It will thus be seen that the German armies on the fighting fronts have been increased in the three years of war from 1,512 battalions to 2,334 battalions.

A review of the different periods of the war will show how these troops have been employed at various times, according to whether the principal effort of the Germans has been directed toward the western or the eastern front.

In August, 1914, the attention of the German high command was absorbed by the attack on Belgium and France, while the Russian front was regarded as a secondary occupation. At that time the infantry effectives on the western front numbered 1,190 battalions, in ninety-six and one-half divisions, each division consisting of four regiments. On the eastern front, the Germans then had 322 battalions, comprising twenty-six and one-half divisions.

When the battle of the Yser was fought in November, 1914, the Germans intensified their effort in the west and brought up their effectives to a higher figure and at the same time increased the number of battalions on their eastern front so that they then had 1,293 battalions on the western front and 399 on the eastern front.

Then came the Russian offensive in Galicia and to check the Russian advance toward the German frontier, Germany was compelled to throw more troops on her eastern front, increasing the number of battalions there in September, 1915, to 780. To do this it was necessary to reduce the number of German battalions on the western front from 1,293 to 1,120.

Many divisions were transferred from the eastern to the western front when the Germans gathered their forces for the beginning of the great battle of Verdun, with the result that in June, 1916, there were 1,376 German battalions on the western front and those on the eastern front were reduced from 780 to 574.

The German drive against Rumania was made possible by adding more than 300 battalions to their eastern battle line, bringing the total on the eastern front to 899. This was done without reducing the number of battalions on the western front below 1,300.

When the French and British began their great offensive operations in July, 1917, the Germans were compelled to bring fresh forces to the western front, increasing their battalions there to 1,456, but reducing the number on their eastern front only to 860.

Subsequently the German battal-

Along the Russian battle line were increased by the addition of more than 100 battalions, bringing the total there to 965 on September 1 of this year. These were divided into ninety-two divisions of three regiments each. During this movement the battalions on the western front were reduced to 1,369, divided into 147 divisions, and that is believed to have been the number on the German western front on September 1.

These figures do not include any German troops on garrison duty in the interior of the country nor those maintaining lines of communication

We have supplied Quaker Cookers to a million homes at very little prices. But the cost has advanced until our offer is almost impossible.

But grocers tell us that many housewives missed our former offer. They are using Quaker Oats and Pettijohn's, and they want this Aluminum Cooker. In fairness, they should have it.

So we renew this offer for next week only. It applies only to housewives whom we have not supplied already. It applies only to users of Quaker Oats or Pettijohn's, or both. It means twice as much as this Dollar Offer meant two years ago. Get this Cooker next week if you are entitled to it. You owe that to yourself.

Double Cooker
Pure Aluminum
Extra Large and Heavy
Cereal Capacity 2 1/4 Qts.
A Lifetime Utensil

To Rightly Cook Two Famous Dishes

We want every user of Quaker Oats and Pettijohn's to cook these cereals rightly. Right cooking makes them doubly delightful. It keeps the flavor intact. It makes them easy to digest.

This Aluminum Cooker has been made to order to meet exact requirements. It is extra large, so little or much can be cooked in it. It is extra heavy, made to last a lifetime.

This Cooker will next week cost you only $1, if you send us the trademarks we ask for. This is a costly offer. And we simply want to know, before sending the Cooker, that you are a Quaker Oats user.

This Offer One Week Only

Send us two trademarks (picture of Quaker) cut from packages of Quaker Oats. Also one trademark (picture of bear) cut from the front of one package of Pettijohn's. Or, if you prefer, send five trademarks from Quaker Oats alone. Send us $1 with these trademarks and we will mail the Cooker by parcel post. Trademarks must be mailed next week. This offer applies to this vicinity only. Address

Quaker Oats Which Saves You 75%

Measured by food value, Quaker Oats costs one-fourth as much as the average mixed diet. So each dollar you spend for Quaker Oats saves an average of $3. Oats stand supreme among grain foods, in nutrition and in flavor. They form a complete food, supplying every need. As an energy food their fame is proverbial.

Make this the chief breakfast dish. Meat and eggs cost five and six times as much. Also use Quaker Oats in bread and muffins, pancakes and cookies. No other food is so economical.

Use Quaker Oats because of the matchless flavor. It is made of queen grains only—just the big, plump, luscious oats. We get but 10 pounds from a bushel. Yet it costs you no extra price.

Pettijohn's The Laxative Luxury

Pettijohn's Breakfast Food is soft rolled wheat, hiding 25 per cent bran flakes. It is a flavory dainty of which no one ever tires. And it supplies the needed bran. Bran is Nature's laxative. Everybody needs it. Most folks would feel better if they ate it every day.

Fine foods clog the system. Bran supplies the needed roughage. Every doctor, as you know, urges its use, to avoid the need of drugs.

Try it one week. Note the good spirits which result. Never again will you return to a branless diet.

Pettijohn's Flour is another bran dainty. That is 75 per cent white patent flour and 25 per cent bran flakes. Use like Graham flour in any recipe. With these two products every meal can include some bran-made dainty.

The RANCH at the WOLVERINE

CHAPTER I.

Let Us Start at the Beginning. OUR trail worn oxen, their necks bowed to the yoke of patient servitude, should really begin this story. But to follow the trail they made would take several chapters which you certainly would skip—unless you like to hear the tale of how the wilderness was tamed and can thrill at the stern history of those who did the taming while they fought to keep their stomachs fairly well filled with food and their hard muscled bodies fit for the fray.

There was a woman, low browed, uncombed, harsh of voice and speech and nature, who drove the four oxen forward over lava rock and rough prairie and the scanty sage. I might tell you a great deal about Marthy, who plodded stolidly across the desert and the low lying hills along the Blackfoot, and of her weak souled, shiftless husband whom she called Jase when she did not call him worse.

They were the pioneers whose lurching wagon first forded the singing Wolverine stream just where it greens the tiny valley and then slips between huge lava rock ledges to join the larger stream. Jase would have stopped there and called home the sheltered little green spot in the gray barrenness. But Marthy went on up the farther hill and across the upland, another full day's journey with the sweating oxen.

They camped that night on another little, singing stream in another little valley which was not so level or so green or so wholly pleasing to the eye. And that night two of the oxen, impelled by a surer instinct than their human owners, strayed away down a narrow, winding gorge and so discovered the Cove and feasted upon its rich grasses. It was Marthy who went after them and who recognized the little, hidden Eden as the place of her dreams—supposing she ever had dreams. So Marthy and Jase and the four oxen took possession, and with much labor and many hard years for the woman and with the same number of years and as little labor as he could manage on the man's part they tamed the Cove and made it a hearty spot in that wild land. A beauty spot, though their lives held nothing but treadmill toil and harsh words and a mental horizon narrowed almost to the limits of the grim, gray rock wall that surrounded them.

Another sturdy souled couple came afterward and saw the Wolverine and made for themselves a home upon its banks. And in the rough little log cabin was born the girl child I want you to meet—a girl child who would have been a boy to meet her father's need and great desire; a girl child whose very name was a compromise between the parents. For they called her Billy for sake of the boy her father wanted and Louise for the girl her mother had longed for to lighten that terrible loneliness which the far frontier brings to the women who brave its stern emptiness.

When Billy Louise was twelve she wanted to do something big, though she was hazy as to the particular nature of that big something. She tried to talk it over with Marthy, but Marthy could not seem to think beyond the Cove.

When she was thirteen Billy Louise rode over with a loaf of bread she had baked all by herself, and she put this problem to Marthy:

"I've been thinking I'd go ahead and write poetry, Marthy—a whole book of it with pictures. But I do love to make bread—and people have to eat bread. Which would you be, Marthy—a poet or a cook?"

Marthy looked at her a minute, lent her attention briefly to the question and gave what she considered good advice.

"You learn how to cook, Billy Louise. Yuh don't want to go and get notions. Your maw ain't healthy, and your paw likes good grub. Po'try is all foolishness. There ain't no money in it."

"Walter Scott paid his debts writing poetry," said Billy Louise argumentatively. She had just read all about Walter Scott in a magazine which a passing cowboy had given her. Perhaps that had something to do with her new ambition.

"Mebby he did and mebbly he didn't. I'd like to see our debts paid off with po'try. It'd have to be worth a hull lot more'n what I'd give for it."

"Oh! Have you got debts, too, Marthy?" Billy Louise at thirteen was still ready with sympathy. "Daddy's got lots and piles of 'em. He bought some cattle and now he talks to mummie all the time about debts. Mummie wants me to go to Boise to school next winter, to Aunt Sarah's. And daddy says there's debts to pay. I didn't know you had any, Marthy."

"Well, I have got. We bought some cattle, too, and they ain't done 's well's they might. If I had a man that was any good on earth I could put up more hay. But I can't get nothing out Jase but whines. Your paw oughta send you to school, Billy Louise, even if he has got debts."

"He says he wishes he could, but he storms. I sh'd think you'd know enough to know that."

"Oh, but I'll have to go anyway," the girl interrupted. "Mummie can't be there alone; she'd worry herself to death if I didn't show up by dark."

"D'you Turn Them Calves Out Into the Corral?"

She worries about every little thing since daddy died. I ought to have gone before—or I oughtn't to have come. But she was worrying about you, Marthy. She hadn't seen or heard of you for a month, and she was afraid you might be sick or something. Why don't you get some one to stay with you? I think you ought to."

"Jase ain't goin' to get sick," Marthy retorted glumly. "Yuh don't want to let him worry yuh, Billy Louise. If I'd worried every time he yowled around about being sick I'd be dead or crazy by now. I dunno but maybe I'll have somebody to help with the work, though," she added after a pause, during which she had swiped the dish-rag around the sides of the pan once or twice and had opened the door and thrown the water out beyond the doorstep like the sloven she was. "I got a nephew that wants to come out. He's been in a bank, but he's quit and wants to get on to a ranch. I dunno but I'll have him come in the spring."

"No," urged Billy Louise, perfectly unconscious of the possibilities of the future. "I hate to think of you two down here alone. I don't suppose any one ever comes down here except me—and that isn't often."

"Nobody's got any call to come down," said Marthy stolidly. "They sure ain't going to come for our company, and there ain't nothing else to bring 'em."

"Well, there aren't many to come, you know," laughed Billy Louise, shaking out the dish towel and spreading it over two nails, as she did at home. "I'm your nearest neighbor, and I've got six miles to ride—against the wind at that. I think I'd better start. We've got a half breed doing chores for us, but he has to be looked after or he neglects things. I'll not get another chance to come very soon, I'm afraid. Mummie hates to have me ride around much in the winter. Yuh send for that nephew right away, why don't you, Marthy?" It was like Billy Louise to mix command and entreaty together.

"Really, I don't think Jase looks a bit well."

"A good strong steepin' of sage 'll fix him all right, only he ain't sick, as I see. Yuh take this shawl!"

Billy Louise refused the shawl and ran down the twisted path fringed with long, reaching fingers of the bare berry bushes. At the stable she stopped for an aimless dialogue with Jase and then rode away, past the orchard whose leafless branches gave glimpses of the low, sod roofed cabin, with Marthy standing rather disconsolately on the rough doorstep watching her go.

Blue was climbing steadily out of the gorge, twitching an ear backward with fluttering attention whenever his lady spoke. The horse went on, calmly stepping over this rock and around that as if it were the simplest thing in the world to find sure footing and carry his lady smoothly up that trail. He threw up his head so suddenly that Billy Louise was startled out of her aimless dreamings and pointed nose and ears toward the little creek bottom above, where Marthy had lighted her campfire long and long ago.

A few steps farther and Blue stopped short in the trail to look and listen. Billy Louise could see the nervous twitchings of his muscles under the skin of neck and shoulders, and she smiled to herself. Nothing could ever come upon her unaware when she rode alone so long as she rode Blue. A hunting dog was not more keenly alive to his surroundings.

"Go on, Blue," she commanded after a minute. "If it's a bear or anything like that you can make a run for it; if it's a wolf I'll shoot it. Yuh needn't stand here all night, anyway."

Blue went on, out from behind the willow growth that hid the open. He returned to his calm, picking a smooth trail through the scattered rocks and tiny washouts. It was the girl's turn to stare and speculate. She did not know this horseman who sat negligently in the saddle and looked up at the cedar grown bluff beyond while his horse stood knee deep in the little stream. She did not know him, and there were not so many travelers in the land that strangers were a matter of indifference.

Blue welcomed the horse with a demure nicker and went forward briskly. And the rider turned his head, eyed the girl sharply as she came up and nodded a cursory greeting. His horse lifted its head to look, decided that it wanted another swallow or two and lowered its muzzle again to the water.

Billy Louise could not form any opinion of the man's age or personality, for he was encased in a wolfskin coat which covered him completely from hat brim to ankles. She got an impression of a thin, dark face and a sharp glance from eyes that seemed dark also. There was a thin, high nose, and beyond that Billy Louise did not look. If she had the mouth must certainly have reassured her somewhat.

Blue stepped nonchalantly down into the stream beside the strange horse and went across without stopping to drink. The strange horse moved on also, as if that were the natural thing to do—which it was, since chance sent them traveling the same trail. Billy Louise set her teeth together with the queer little vicious click that had always been her habit when she felt thwarted and constrained to yield to circumstances and straightened herself in the saddle.

"Looks like a storm," the fur coated one observed, with a perfectly transparent attempt to lighten the awkwardness.

Billy Louise tilted her chin upward and gazed at the gray sweep of clouds moving sullenly toward the mountains at her back. She glanced at the man and caught him looking intently at her face.

He did not look away immediately, as he should have done, and Billy Louise felt a little heat wave of embarrassment, emphasized by resentment.

"Are you going far?" he queried in the same tone he had employed before.

"Six miles," she answered shortly, though she tried to be decently civil.

"I've about eighteen," he said.

"Looks like we'll both get caught out in a blizzard."

Certainly he had a pleasant enough voice, and, after all, it was not his fault that he happened to be at the crossing when she rode out of the gorge. Billy Louise, in common justice, laid aside her resentment and looked at him with a hint of a smile at the corners of her lips.

"That's what we have to expect when we travel in this country in the winter," she replied. "Eighteen miles will take you long after dark."

"Well, I was sort of figuring on putting up at some ranch if I got too bad. There's a ranch somewhere ahead on the Wolverine, isn't there?"

"Yes," Billy Louise bit her lip, but hospitality is an unwritten law of the West, a law not to be lightly broken. "That's where I live. We'll be glad to have you stop there of course."

The stranger must have felt and admired the unconscious dignity of her tone and words, for he thanked her simply and refrained from looking too intently at her face.

Fine shiftings of snow, like meal flung down from a gigantic sieve, swept into their faces as they rode on. The man turned his face toward her after a long silence. She was riding with bowed head and face half turned from him and the wind alike.

"You'd better ride on ahead and get in out of this," he said curtly. "Your horse is fresh. It's going to be worse and more of it before long. This cayuse of mine has had thirty miles or so of rough going."

"I think I'd better wait for you," she said primly. "There are bad places where the trail goes close to the bluff, and the lava rock will be slippery with this snow, and it's getting dark so fast that a stranger might go over."

"If that's the case the sooner you are past the bad places the better. I'm all right. Yuh drift along."

Billy Louise speculated briefly upon the note of calm authority in his voice. He did not know evidently that she was more accustomed to giving commands than to obeying them. Her lips gave a little quirk of amusement at his mistake.

"You go on. I don't want a guide," he tilted his head peremptorily toward the blurred trail ahead.

Billy Louise laughed a little. She did not feel in the least embarrassed now. "Do you never get what you don't want?" she asked mildly. "I'd a lot rather lead you past these places than have you go over the edge," she said. "Because nobody could get you up or even go down and bury you decently. It wouldn't be a bit nice. It's much sanner to keep you on top."

He said something, but Billy Louise could not hear what it was. She suspected him of swearing. She rode on in silence.

"Blue's a dandy horse on bad trails and in the dark," she observed companionably at last. "He simply can't lose his footing or his way."

"Yes? That's nice."

Billy Louise felt like putting out her tongue at him for the cool remoteness of his tone. It would serve him right to ride on and let him break his neck over the bluff if he wanted to. She shut her teeth together and turned her face away from him.

So, in silence and with no very good feeling between them, they went precariously down the steep hill (the hill up which Marthy and the oxen and Jase had toiled so laboriously twenty-seven years before) and across the day flat to where the cabin window winked a welcome at them through the storm.

FLYERS FIGHT TROOPS

Allied Airmen Turn Machine Guns on Germans.

Number of Bombs Dropped on Enemy Trenches and Airdromes—Many Airplanes Shot Down.

London, Nov. 10.—The war office has issued the following statement on aerial operations:

"Our low-flying machines fired many rounds at hostile troops and transports, and a number of bombs were dropped on enemy trenches and billets."

"During the night more than three tons of bombs were dropped on enemy airdromes at Gontrade and St. Denis Western and on airdromes in the valley of the River Lys. Railway communications also were bombed and satisfactory results were observed. An enemy observation balloon on the ground was destroyed by one of our low-flying machines. One of our airplanes failed to return."

"A large amount of work was accomplished by our airplanes in conjunction with our artillery, and a number of photographs were taken."

"A very large number of flights took place in the air. Twelve hostile machines were downed, six were driven down out of control and two others were shot down by our anti-aircraft guns. Ten of our machines are missing, including one which failed to return from a bombing raid Wednesday night."

Artillery activity is reported in the statement.

SAY DOCTOR WAS SLAIN

Believed to Have Been Murdered by Drug Gang.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 10.—Loss of his life is believed to be the sacrifice exacted on Dr. Henry L. Chapin, Cleveland physician, author, poet, traveler and art lover, when he refused, on the eve of fulfillment, to break a promise he made to his wife to quit the drug habit. That is why Cleveland's "blind physician" lies dead while police are seeking a drug-runner, who is believed to have given Doctor Chapin his death blow in a room in a down-town hotel in fear that the doctor would unmask his illicit traffic.

While crossing the desert eight years ago he became totally blind. His sight was partly restored, but the grip of narcotics remained. The physician pledged himself to quit. The police see a motive for the murder of Doctor Chapin by the mysterious drug-runner, who knew the federal penalty that awaited him if arrested again as he was before, when the doctor testified against him. Police are seeking the suspect in his old hiding places here and in Chicago, the headquarters of his trade.

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Drink lots of water and stop eating meat for a while if your bladder troubles you.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and laggard. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

Beautiful Bust and Shoulders are possible if you will wear a scientifically constructed Bien Jolie Brassiere.

The dragging weight of an unconfined bust so stretches the supporting muscles that the contour of the figure is spoiled.

put the bust back where it belongs, prevent the full bust from having the appearance of flabbiness, eliminate the danger of dragging muscles and confine the flesh of the shoulder giving a graceful line to the entire upper body.

They are the simplest and most serviceable garments imaginable—come in all materials and styles; Cross Back, Hook Front, Surplice, Bandeau, etc. Banded with "Wololin," the rustless boning—permitting washing and ironing.

Have your dealer show you Bien Jolie Brassieres, if not stocked, we will gladly send him, prepaid, samples to show you.

"It is the duty of every American to save coal this winter. If every family will save a ton of coal, if every industrial plant will save 10 per cent of the coal it uses, which 10 per cent it now wastes, the coal problem will be largely solved."

Several channels of heat waste are common in American homes. One is the chimney, through which an enormous amount of heat is wasted. Wind-does and loosely constructed roofs provide other means of loss. At a time like this, when fuel is scarce and the government needs all the coal it can get for war work, all such leakages should be stopped as much as possible.

From a health standpoint the use of less coal has an important bearing. Overheating of homes, offices and other buildings is the rule rather than the exception, according to the statement quoted. A reduced temperature will save coal and be less injurious to the human body.

Thermostats, which automatically turn on and shut off the heat as required, even while the dwellers sleep, are one means for preventing overheating and saving coal. Intelligent handling of the heating plant, however, is the most important requirement in the task of conserving the coal supply in the American home.

FRENCH USE DICTAPHONES

Eavesdroppers Across No Man's Land Get Valuable Information.

Dictaphones are being used extensively by the French in the active sectors along the Chemin des Dames and north of Verdun, where in many instances the hostile trenches are not more than 25 to 35 yards apart. The dictaphone never can be used more than for a night, for in the morning German trench inspectors find the little wooden boxes and cut the wires leading from the listening post to the French line.

Where the trenches are closely together it is comparatively easy for a soldier to crawl through a gate in the barbed wire protecting the trench, wriggle across no man's land and slip several wires near the German trench. There he plants the dictaphone and then wriggles back, paying out the wire as he goes. Then observers, trained in the German language, "sit in" and listen to the conversation of Germans in the trenches and sometimes obtain valuable information regarding German plans.

VISIT TOO WELL ADVERTISED

Rush of Relatives to Port Changes Orders to Fleet.

The Atlantic fleet was to visit in an American port recently. Before its arrival, which was supposed to be secret, wives of some of the officers arrived, nearly every one at the port knew the fleet was coming, and the city was preparing for the coming of officers and men. Relatives especially were making extensive preparations.

The day set for the fleet to arrive came, but not the fleet. "Where's the fleet, and what detains it?" was asked many times. A week passed and no fleet appeared.

The answer was too many knew of the fleet's proposed visit. This being learned by the navy department, plans were changed and the fleet remained away.

U. S. BARS MONEY FOR RUSS REBELS

Administration Prepares for Five-Year War as New Crises Arise.

PLANS ARMY OF 5,000,000

President and Cabinet Discuss New Russian Revolution—Wilson Said to Believe Kerensky Will Return to Power.

Washington, Nov. 10.—President Wilson and the cabinet discussed the new Russian revolution for two hours. The suffering masses in the war-crazed country will not be abandoned, although no money will be loaned to the revolutionists.

The character of political support that can be given to the people is yet to be determined. Treasury department authorities have been directed to suspend approval on all contracts for munitions of war. The Bolsheviks are committed to the repudiation of all war debts.

The president favors a policy that will permit shoes, clothing and food exports to Russia as soon as a proper method of distribution can be made. Advice from Ambassador Francis on this subject will prevail.

Prepares for Five-Year Conflict.

The situation—Russia out of the war for an indefinite period and the Teutonic armies swarming like locusts across Italy—was squarely faced by the cabinet.

The administration is convinced the war may last from one to five years longer. It is on this basis that the future program will be arranged. The principal feature of the program is an army of 5,000,000 men fully equipped and the ships to carry them and war supplies to Europe.

The result was a determination to add every ounce of energy that the United States can organize and place in the scales against Germany with the least possible delay. The public may learn the magnitude of these plans very soon, it was intimated.

Kerensky May Return.

Russia's debt to France and England is many times greater than that due the United States. Russia owes France approximately $5,000,000,000 and England about $3,000,000,000.

President Wilson has great faith in Kerensky and is said to believe he will return to power.

The possibility of a separate peace between the central powers and the Bolsheviks is given serious consideration. Germany desires to eliminate Russia entirely from the war. It is thought she will seek to induce the Maximalists to cede Poland to Austria and Lithuania to Germany.

MEN HUNT FOR CHEAP MEAT

Unusual Number of Licenses Is Taken Out in Minnesota.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 10.—Deputy County Auditor Wallen had issued 1,500 licenses to hunt deer and moose in St. Louis county alone, and expects to issue 2,500 before Saturday night. The season opened today. He attributes the rush for licenses largely to a desire of hunters to obtain meat to combat high living expenses, but figures $30,000 has been spent here for guns, ammunition, licenses and camp equipment. Several people from Indiana, North Dakota and Iowa got licenses. Numerous women will hunt. Reports indicate deer in abundance and moose are said to be running in numerous herds. The present temperature is too high to keep big game after the kill.

U. S. GUNS SHELL GERMANS

Continuous Rain Interferes With Artillery Observations.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 10.—There has been no special activity reported on the sector held by the American troops in France during the last two days. A continuous rain has interfered with artillery observations, but the Americans have been firing their usual number of shells daily. There is good reason to believe that some of these fell upon or near certain German battery positions and strategic points. On an average, 500 German shells daily have been coming over, but no damage from them has been reported.
